ABSTRACT

Hemorrhagic stroke is cessation of blood supply to the brain to ruptured blood vessels resulting in loss of brain function and cause serious health problems because it cause mental and physical disability even death. Orem's theory of nursing (self care) is the regulatory function of man is based an individual ability to perform maintenance themselves writing this case study to provide nursing care with application of theory Orem (self care) in Tn. R with hemorrhagic stroke in dr. Saiful Anwar Malang. Assessment results in Tn. R generated nursing diagnoses that is cerebral perfusion ineffective, Ineffective clearance, Mobility, Risk of damage to skin integrity . Nursing care planning and interventions carried out in accordance reference with the NANDA-NIC NOC. Implementation and evaluation carried out in accordance with theory of Orem (Self Care). Conclusion is the client still in a wholly totally compensatory system / system of nursing assistance in full, where the client still needs assisted by nurses and family, because the client is still decreasing consciousness.

Keywords: Hemorrhagic Stroke, Orem Theory (self care)